1. Forwarded herewith is the psychiatrist's report on the ARTICHOKE of [redacted]. A full report will follow when the tapes have been transcribed. Although the examination did not produce any significant new information, it did provide confirmation of [redacted] story as filled in during the interrogation of recent weeks.

2. Regarding the third sentence of paragraph 8 of the attachment, the word "interrogator" in this sentence refers to the [redacted] interrogator to whom [redacted] thought he was talking. The word "interrogator" as used in the rest of paragraph 8 of the attachment refers to the [redacted] interrogator. It was evident that [redacted], believing that he was talking to the [redacted] interrogator, showed an extreme dislike of this person.

3. It is requested that a copy of the attachment be given to [redacted] and a copy to the [redacted] medical department.
